Monaghan Township Meeting Focuses on Development Issues

by Deborah Recker

At the May 1, 1989 meeting of the Monaghan Township Board of Supervisors, the Wellington Heights on the Yellow Breeches sub-division encountered another delay when the Monaghan Board refused to vote on the final plan submitted which included lot #65. Lot #65 is to be used as the development sewage treatment plant.

Mr. Larry Rhone, Vice-Chairman for the Planning Commission, was present at the meeting and presented the Board with the plan stating that the Planning Commission could not make a recommendation to the Board on the Plan. The Planning Commission was unable to vote on the Plan at their April meeting because they did not have a quorum.

Rhone stated that the plan was reviewed by those members present at the meeting and that it was in order as it related to the Sub-division ordinance. Township Solicitor, G. Thomas Miller questioned if the original plan referenced lot #65 as now presented. Rhone stated it did not but that the Planning Commission was aware at that time that on-site sewage would not be permissible and that a sewage treatment plant would be necessary.

Solicitor Miller cited that the plan was not in compliance with the zoning ordinance due to the change, and that the developer could appeal the zoning hearing board. As presented, Solicitor Miller told the board that both lot #18 and lot #65 were in violation due to the fact that lot #18 was reduced in size by fifty (50) feet which was used to accommodate lot #65. Solicitor Miller stated that to proceed in an orderly manner, the developer should alternatively ask for Special Exception for Use Variance and subsequently a Dimension Variance to resolve the problem.

If acted upon favorably by the Zoning Hearing Board at their May 24th meeting, the plan could be approved by the Board of Supervisors at their June 5, 1989 meeting.

Developer Withdraws Golf Course Plans In Monaghan

by Deborah Recker

In an attempt to curtail possible future housing in Monaghan township adjacent to the proposed Chilton Golf Course, township officials may have won the battle but lost the war.

The developers of the proposed golf course presented the board with a petition at the April meeting to amend the Rural Open Space zoning ordinance to provide for a golf course, and to include a snack bar or equipment shop as a Use by Right in a Rural Open Space zone and as an alternative amendment, to allow a golf course in a Rural Open Space zone by a Special Exception.

Both the Monaghan Township and York County Planning Commissions recommended that the Golf Course be allowed in a Rural Open Space zone as a Special Exception and having been advertised as such, the amendment could have been enacted at the May 1, 1989 meeting of the Monaghan Township Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Lloyd Persun questioned the status of an alternative proposal he had made at the April meeting to rezone the subject area of the Mumma property from Rural Open Space to Conservation. Conservation zoning would allow for the golf course, but only allow for one (1) residential unit for every three (3) acres instead of one (1) residential unit per 50,000 square ft. as the Rural Open Space ordinance currently does.

Secretary Laverne Rohrbach informed the board that there was not sufficient time to advertise the alternative proposal to rezone Conservation and that decisions regarding the alternative proposal would be made by the York County Planning Commission at their May 10th meeting by the Monaghan Township Planning Commission at their May 17th meeting.

Attorney Duffie, representing golf course developer Robert Mumma, informed the delegation that approval had already been granted for twelve (12) holes and that they were now short just six (6) holes.

Duffie also addressed the board stating that their position was fairly simple and that due to time constraints, if the issue was tabled, the application for the golf course in the Rural Open Space zone would be withdrawn and if a hearing for a down-zone or devaluation occurred to reduce density of the 175-180 acres, the application for the golf course would also be withdrawn upon which time the applicant would seek damages for the down-zoning and when litigation was complete, proceed with residential development in the area.

Attorney Duffie stated, "I can't imagine how anyone could oppose a golf course."

Township officials have heard testimony from experts that a golf course is "a number one" use of land, that "it's better then farm land. There's no run off, no pesticides and no top soil wash. We are not rattling the litigation saber, we just want the board to know where we stand."

Supervisor Persun's response to Duffie's statements was, "No one opposes the golf course. The issue is the question of whether the golf course acreage can be credited toward the total area for building in Rural Open Space."

Secondly, if you analyze that point and look at the question of Conservation verses Rural Open Space, you will see the acreage is one-third Conservation. We do not have municipal facilities in this township to accommodate high density.

Attorney Duffie stated, "I can't imagine how anyone could oppose a golf course."

Supervisor Persun's response to Duffie's statements was, "No one opposes the golf course. The issue is the question of whether the golf course acreage can be credited toward the total area for building in Rural Open Space."

Your project coordinator, Robert Bloom, called me unsolicited on the phone and discussed at great length your intention not to construct housing in any event and that this was property intended to be carried on from generation to generation so I cannot see, given that statement if you are behind it, how Conservation zoning can in anyway effect your plans other then to permit them by Special Use Exception. The question is what will the density be in five, ten or fifteen years down the road."

Attorney Duffie argued that even if the township won the down-zoning the developer could still put one hundred (100) houses on the three hundred (300) acres he now owns in Monaghan township and the township would not get the golf course.

He insisted that the developer did not intend to develop single family dwellings and that when the original sub-division plan which included public water and sewer was rejected, the developer sensed that the township did not want the housing.

In response to the rejection, the developer decided to go ahead with the golf course and omit the housing, and that it was only municipal paranoia to suggest that the developer has some discrete plan to come in with housing around the golf course. Duffie continued that the developers had no intention to struggle to get one (1) house approved in Monaghan township until the township matured.

Supervisor Persun was not swayed by the argument and stood firm in his decision to have the Conservation rezoning alternative considered at the same time as the Rural Open Space amendment. The motion to table the issue until the June meeting of the Board carried with a 2 to 0

The panel asking tax reform questions to the experts last Thursday night at the Carroll Township building were from left to right, Barry Fox, reporter, Patriot News; Gary Reihart, Carroll Township Supervisor; and Mary Lou Bytof, reporter, Dillsburg Banner. The experts were David W. Patti, executive director of the state senate local government committee and Fred A. Redding, chief of the municipal programs division of the Department of Community Affairs. The session was aired on the local government channel.

Tax Reform-Is It For You?

by Mary Lou Bytof

On Tuesday, May 16, a referendum on the ballot will ask voters whether or not they favor the new tax reform bill.

Although it is a complex and somewhat nebulous piece of legislation, much has been said, written, and debated about Governor Robert Casey's bill.

Whether you stand to benefit or lose from this legislation as it is written only can be determined through a lot of reading and figuring.

Age, occupation, or party affiliation does not matter. Your living, spending, and savings habits are involved.

For instance, the tax reform bill will benefit senior citizens, farmers and households with an annual income of less than $45,000, according to Governor Casey.

"Read the fine print," warned David W. Patti, executive director of the state senate local government committee.

The new tax reform bill shifts the tax burden from residential property to personal income, which includes savings in addition to earned wages. Senior citizens who own their homes and have little or no investments may have much to gain.

However, if an elderly individual sells his home for health or convenience reasons, the money he makes from the sale will be taxed in most cases.

Patti predicted that if the voters accept the tax reform bill, those who stand to lose the most are small businesses and young families, especially those who are trying to save money to buy a house.

For the small businesses, an increase in real estate tax may force them to pass on the expense to the customer.

Patti, along with Fred A. Redding, chief of the municipal programs division of the Department of Community Affairs, were panelists discussing what tax reform would mean in Carroll Township. Sponsored by the Carroll Township Board of Supervisors, the televised "debate" lasted approximately two hours.

Redding presented hypothetical statistics on what the tax reform bill will mean to township residents. If the average resident pays $700 to $800 in school taxes, the new bill may give the district the ability to cut those taxes in half, he said. But the bill offers no tax reduction guarantees.

For those who need more information on tax reform before they go to the polls, both Redding and Patti left literature at the Carroll Township Building for the voting public.

Whether the bill is or is not accepted by the voters, that decision will affect the financial future of the state.

Although voters registered as "independent" cannot vote for candidates in the primary election, they are encouraged to go to the polls and vote on the referendums on the ballot.

Attorney Charles Vance, representing the developer Richard E. Mowery of Mowery's Orchards Inc., stated that the change made was minor and Lot #65 was in compliance with the zoning ordinance. Attorney Vance renewed the request as submitted asking that the final plans for Wellington Heights be approved as predated contingent upon any remaining issues pertaining to the declaration of covenants being resolved.

He also asked that in conjunction with the approval, some note be taken of the fact that the plan was, in effect, previously approved when the sewage module was approved and that it predated the effective date of the current zoning ordinance.

Based upon the potential for litigation, the Board called an executive session. Upon their return, Supervisor Lloyd Persun informed the delegation that the session was called to discuss the possibility of granting the request, denying the request or tabling the motion till the next meeting. It was decided that the request be tabled until the next meeting. Persun stated that it was the Board's feeling that the proper procedure for action on the matter was that the plan be acted upon by the Zoning Commission and if tabled, in fairness to the developer, he would have sufficient time to act accordingly.

An amendment to the Rural Open Space zoning ordinance could have been enacted at the May 1st meeting, which would have allowed for a golf course as a special exception, but the Board ruled to table the issue until next month's meeting.

The tabling of the issue prompted Attorney Duffie, on the behalf of Robert Mamma, to request that a petition to amend the Rural Open Space zoning ordinance to include a golf course be withdrawn. An account of this action is covered in a related article.

In other Planning action, the Board unanimously voted to appoint Lynn Shoffner to the Planning Commission.

In other action, the Board received an information letter from the Yellow Breeches Creek Alliance. The Monaghan Township Board of Supervisors have been supportive of the group since last September and has designated Solicitor Miller as their representative on the Yellow Breeches Creek Alliance Board.

The newly formed group, recognizing the value of the Yellow Breeches Creek, requested that the Department of Environmental Resources upgrade the priority status of the creek and undertake a study of the creek to consider its eligibility and potential as a component of the Pennsylvania Scenic Rivers System. The Department concurred with the request. As their first official step, the YBCA is conducting Informational Public Meetings in counties where the study segments of the waterway are located to formally announce the study, techniques to be employed and scope of the study. The first meeting is to be held on May 10, 1989. The second will be held on May 23, 1989 at 7:00 p.m. at the Fairfield Hall at Allenberry, Cumberland County. All interested citizens are urged to attend.

A Yellow Breeches Scenic River Festival will also be held on June 17, at the Lower Allen Park. It will be a family event with sportsmen displays and a planned trout stocking of the trout that day. The public is invited to attend.

The Secretary informed the Board that the township has been sued by Mr. Hammaker. Due to an apparent misunderstanding between Hammaker's foreman and township roadmaster Ken McGuire, Hammaker paved about 1.2 acres of South Grantham Road that was not contracted for. The cost of paving the road area not contracted for is in the vicinity of $17,000.

Solicitor Miller recommended that the township settle the case for the principal amount of the obligation to be paid in four (4) equal monthly installments without interest and without cost of suit. A motion carried to accept the solicitor's recommendation.

The township is also settling on the Innerst suit. The township was one (1) of four (4) defendants named in the suit which cited that the SEO negligently or improperly approved a defective septic installation which caused various damages. The settlement cost to the township is $800.00 plus legal fees.

The meeting shifted its focus to road issues. A meeting has been scheduled for May 12, 1989 at 1:00 p.m. between the township engineer, Memphord Estates' engineer and township chairman Jacob Cottenham to inspect Memphord Estates and determine what must be done prior to the roads being offered for dedication of the township.

Township residents Scott and Vicki Bair was present at the meeting and requested that the Board take proper action to have Jessica Lane taken over by the township. The board is taking action of their request.

Firefighters worked for four hours to extinguish a house fire at the Debra Loudenslager residence on Blair Hollow Road in Carroll Township. The fire was working its way through the walls of the two-story wood structure when firefighters arrived. Loudenslager and her children got out of the home when they saw smoke coming up from the basement. One firefighter from Dillsburg was treated and released from Holy Spirit Hospital for bruises after falling through a floor. Firefighters from Dillsburg, Franklinton, Monaghan Township and Company #9 from Adams County responded to the blaze. The cause of the fire was electrical according to the fire report.

The April road inspection report cited that township roads are in excellent shape given the mild winter.

On May 30, 1989, Representative Bruce Smith will be at the township building at 7:30 and residents are invited to come and direct any questions to him. Secretary Rohrbaugh informed the group that Rep. Smith has been most responsive to township needs and residents may express their thanks at that time.

Under new business, some discussion was held concerning the need to update the sub-division zoning ordinance due to a new municipal planning code adopted by the state. The matter is being researched.

It was reported that the Monaghan Fire Company has been contacted by the Dillsburg Cable TV Company (GS Communication) concerning running their cables underground in front of the Fire Co. building along W. Siddonsburg Road. The cable installation has been detained several months due to township resident William Sowers' refusal to allow the cable company easement. Permission has been granted for easement in front of the Fire Company building and residents should see some progress in the near future.

The Monaghan Fire Company answered eleven (11) alarms in April. Only one of the calls was in Monaghan, all others being assists to other townships.

The police answered thirty-five (35) complaints in Monaghan in March and 27 in April.

The next scheduled monthly meeting of the Monaghan Township Board of Supervisors will be June 5, 1989.

vote and 1 abstention. Supervisor Wayne Miller abstained from the vote after having received a letter from former Planning Commission Chairperson, Betsy Cobel, asking him not to participate in the vote citing conflicts of interest.

The tabling of the issue prompted Attorney Duffie, on behalf of Mr. Mamma, to submit a letter of the Board requesting that their petition to amend the Rural Open Space zoning ordinance to include a golf course be withdrawn.

Township Solicitor G. Thomas Miller ruled that there was nothing left before the board to act on in respect to the golf course. To clear the record, a motion carried to cancel all previous actions made to accommodate the golf course.

In view of the request of the developer, Supervisor Persun promptly moved that the proposal, in respect to Conservation, likewise be withdrawn and that the Planning Commissions, both local and county, be so advised and the advertisement need not be undertaken.

Duffie concluded with "the golf course could have been a great asset to the community but we'll do something else."

Entertainment Extra by Evelyn

Q. I simply love Dolly Parton. Could you please tell me if she has any plans of a major tour in the near future. Also, how is she getting along with her mentor, Porter Waggoner? Jill G., Lake Alfred, Fla.

Q. What ever happened to country's greatest, Mac Davis? Tina B., Shreveport, La.

A. Dolly Parton just completed a new album titled "White Limozeen," for Columbia Records, and the first lady of country plans on returning to the concert tour circuit. In fact, everybody in America should have a chance to see Dolly up-close-and-in-person because she plans on touring for up to seven years, hitting large arenas and auditoriums, along with small theatres and fairs. Why would such a major star choose to put herself through so much? Well, according to Dolly, she just loves riding on that bus and plans on touring throughout the U.S., hitting campgrounds and every truck stop, instead of jetting through the sky. Her schedule, though, will allot time for television specials, movies, new albums etc., as she will tour four full days a week, not seven full days. In addition, Dolly's new Smoky Mountain theme park, "Dollywood," has just opened for the summer and she will be there with Porter Waggoner, working together for the first time since she appeared on his show many years ago.

Dolly is especially excited about her new LP, "White Limozeen," in which many celebrities join her in returning to their true country roots. Mac Davis joins Ms. Parton on the LP as she and Davis wrote the title song to their duet number, "Wait Til I Get You Home." In addition, such major folks as Ricky Skaggs, Farrell Morris, Vince Gill, John Jarvis, Jo-Ei Sonnier, Albert Lee, George Brinkley III, Lloyd Green, Mac MacAnnally, Barry Beckett, Steve Gibson, Jerry Douglas and the Nashville String Machine worked on the sure-to-be best-selling LP.

Q. Has the television project titled "Sweet Bird Of Youth" been put on hold due to Elizabeth Taylor's health? Jimmy J., El Paso, Texas

A. No. However, there has been a change in the lead male role. Apparently, Don Johnson turned the part down and many speculate that was due to money. Instead, Mark Harmon has the lead role — and I think that is a better choice anyway. With Johnson's latest bomb at the box office in "Dead-Bang" and the cancellation of his television series, "Miami Vice," the backers of this project have to be pleased with the outcome of the cast.

Q. I recently read where Blair Brown is coming back in the "Days and Nights of Molly Dodd" series, but I don't know which channel will carry the show. G. Miller, Bellevue, Wash.

A. "Molly" was canceled by NBC in spite of favorable critical reaction. Alas, the ratings were just too weak for the network to feel it was sustainable. The series went over to the LIFETIME channel on cable and has been doing very well both in reruns and in original segments.

Q. In the new book about Jackie Kennedy Onassis in which the author says she was willing to give JFK a divorce so he could marry Marilyn Monroe, someone was supposed to be the source of that story. Who was it and was that person reputable? David G., Westchester, N.Y.

A. The source was said to have been the late Peter Lawford, President Kennedy's brother-in-law. There are some people who say Lawford's bouts with the bottle and, perhaps, drugs, may have altered his perceptions of reality so that what he believed to be true may not have been exactly as he perceived it. Of course, only one person knows if that story is true, and we doubt if Jackie will share that information with us. One insider to whom we spoke said that if Lawford heard the story, it may not have occurred to him that married couples often threaten to leave one another, but that's all it is — a threat.

Q. Is it true that Fawn Hall is writing a book about Oliver North and "Iranscam"? J.C., Arlington, Va.

A. Yes and no. Ms. Hall is writing a book on her life for Warner Books, but she inked the deal with the stipulation that she will say nothing concerning her involvement with "Iranscam."

Q. Is it true that Christina Ferrare is not returning to ABC's "Home" television show? Kathleen, Brooklyn, N.Y.

A. Christina decided over her maternity leave not to return to the daily show. However, she will continue her chores as host of "A.M. Los Angeles." Just for the record, Christina's husband is ABC honcho Tony Thomopoulos and the couple had a baby girl last March.

Later David and Lanie agreed not to talk about Ashley's "visit." Erica admitted to Mona that she's still in love with Travis and had a plan to get him back. Dixie was upset to learn of Adam's plan to go on a second honeymoon with Brooke. Wait To See: Marissa has a new secret to share with Jeremy.

ANOTHER WORLD: Mac threw Iris out of the house after she admitted to being the "Chief." Later, on the stand, Iris also confessed being behind the Cory takeover — leaving Michael stunned at the news. Derek told Felicia he knew her when he was very young and killed Noah in an effort to protect her. Evan passed out before he could tell Amanda who he really is. Jake learned he could be Steven's father after all. Wait To See: Michael is surprised at his own reaction to Iris' plea for help.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Margo told Tom it was time to tell Hal the truth about the baby — and she managed to get to him before Barbara could. Craig prepared for a trip to Cuba to search for Sierra. Ellie told Iva she's still attracted to Brock despite "everything." Caleb told Lucinda Olivia made a move on him. Wait To See: Barbara sees an opportunity that Margo overlooks.

BOLD & THE BEAUTIFUL: In spite of Kristen's misgivings, Clarke insisted the job with Sally would be a fantastic opportunity. Bill assured Margo he won't reveal that Clarke is Mark's real father. Thorne talked about making a baby when he and Caroline go off on their trip to New York. Sally realized Macy was right when she accused her mother of trying to buy her love. Wait To See: Thorne reveals his dark side again and this time it could have more disastrous consequences.

DALLAS: In Vienna, J.R. met Vanessa Beaumont, the only woman who ever broke his heart. McKay told April to dissuade Bobby from pursuing the oil contract. Cliff was obsessed by the idea that Afton is really his own daughter. Miss Ellie tried to bring the amnesiac Clayton back to Southfork. Wait To See: Cally may have a surprise for J.R.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Adrienne was shocked at seeing Angelica's tape naming Justin as the father of her baby. Roman saved Diana from Barney. Shane and Kimberly were uneasy when Adam dismissed her guard. The collapsing tent caused Faith to go blind. Marcus assured her it's only temporary. After one too many, April dozed off unaware of a spreading grease fire. A concerned Mike got to her in time to save her. The police arrested Roman for Kameha's murder. Diana managed to get the crumpled note from Kameha's hand before anyone noticed. Wait To See: Kimberly is suddenly too vulnerable in the face of a new threat.

FALCON CREST: Samantha began to see opportunities for herself in Richard's plan that Richard might not appreciate. Angela was determined not to let Richard triumph over her and Maggie. Maggie, meanwhile, considered a more drastic method of getting back at Richard for everything. Wait To See: Angela's "angel" in disguise could exact a terrible price.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Robert found Scott trying to get information on Malone while being "kneaded" by Cindy in a New York massage parlor. After seducing Ashton, Yasmine found a slip of paper with mysterious numbers on it. Edward left the bulk of his estate to Ned and one dollar each to Tracy and Alan. Alan was determined to fight it. Mary told Robert she faked her fall to keep Kathy from going to New York with Paul. Wait To See: Tracy runs into an unexpected complication courtesy of Ashton.

GENERATIONS: Rob admitted he'd left the biology exam out to test Sam and he insisted he would fail her. Sam insisted she would fight him. Jessica learned they'd put her "Tomorrow's Another Day" character, Lacey, in a coma. Sam tried to tape Rob admitting he'd slept with her — a violation of college rules. Rob found the tape and later put an "F" next to her name on the computer printout sheet. Wait To See: Rob hasn't heard the last from Sam.

GUIDING LIGHT: Mo and Ed agreed not to sleep with anyone else during their trial separation. Alan denied Adam's charge that he caused the accident that almost hurt Blake and Philip, citing his inability to walk as proof. Will hypnotized Sonni to forget the "bad" Will and later lied to Josh and Reva that Sonni was close to confessing she had kidnapped their daughter. Blake opened a present addressed to Philip, and Roger knocked it out of her hand before it exploded. Wait To See: Blake continues to doubt Alan's story.

KNOTS LANDING: While Greg was in Washington pitching for a top government job that could take him to Japan, Abby lured Ted and Hawkins deeper into her plan to conceal her secret, illegal ownership of Murakame Corp. Unaware of Abby's connection, Mack, Paula, Gary and Karen asked her to join them in a suit against the company. Paige was upset when Greg refused to take her calls. Wait To See: Greg makes an interesting discovery.

LOVING: Determined to clear his name once and for all and to prove Clay was the driver in the hit and run case for which he took the rap in Maine, Trucker confronted Gwyn who refused to admit she had been with him the night of the accident. An angry Trucker trashed her place — giving her and Jeff an opportunity to fake a story that Trucker had beaten her up. Jack persuaded Ava not to lose faith in Alex. Dan tried to kill Alex at Egypt's condo, but Todd intervened. Wait To See: Ava feels threatened.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: To prevent "Fraternity Row" from going to New York, Megan asked Asa to buy the show and keep it in Llanview. Michael blamed Bo for the bomb that was sent to him. Cord came to Audrey's aid when Blade pulled a knife. Brenda and her baby survived a hazardous birth. Austin sabotaged Michael's car, unaware that Gabrielle would use it to rush Alicia to the hospital after she went into labor. The brakes failed; the car went out of control into a ravine, also hitting Audrey as she tried to escape from Blade. Wait To See: Michael plans revenge.

SANTA BARBARA: Megan was shocked to see C.C. and Greg together in her place. Lisa took Mason to an A.A. meeting. Cruz got Jaime to admit he was the one who attacked Laura. Ethan was stunned when Laura refused to press charges. Cruz left for San Francisco. Sandra had a vision of him being in danger. In Paris, Eden got a job as nanny for Ric's baby, Charisse. Heather dozed off as she was driving. Ethan, in another car, slammed his hand on the horn as the cars approached each other. Wait To See: Cruz realizes Eden may be in danger.

YOUNG & THE RESTLESS: Carl was upset at the weight of evidence that seemed to be mounting against Paul. Victor thought George's insistence that he come to his office could have been an attempt to set up Paul. John persuaded Jim to stay on in town. To show good faith with Jill, Nina agreed to sign the prenuptial agreement without telling Phillip about it first. Nikki and Ashley agreed they had to move fast to expose Leanna. Wait To See: Victor finds himself in a curious situation over which he has no control.

Tuning In

by Seli Groves

YO! BEACHAM GOES RAMBO! Stephanie Beacham is having one great year. Her "Dynasty" character, Sable, has had some of the best storylines the series has boasted in a long time. She costarred in the film, "Troop Beverly Hills," and has another flick coming out soon.

We now hear that the NBC peacock is planning to hatch a new comedy series to star the beautiful and oh, so talented British actress. Beacham would play the part of a no-nonsense nun who would rather oversee a winery or go out on an archaeological dig, but is assigned the task of running an orphanage famous for having its previous clerical overseers running away from the orphans. The series, now in production, is called "Sister Kate" — whom the kids begin calling Sister Mary Rambo when they find her more than a match for their mischief.

Ana-Alicia, back on "Falcon Crest" as Samantha, a look-alike for the late Melissa, will be given the 1989 Golden Eagle Award for Outstanding Television Actress presented by NOSOTROS, a non-profit group founded by Ricardo Montalban. The award cites outstanding contributions by people of Hispanic heritage to the entertainment industry. Ceremonies are June 9 in Beverly Hills.

Chatted with Bridget Fonda who stars in the WONDERWORKS production, "Jacob Have I Loved" (PBS, Saturday, May 13 — 8 p.m., ET). She plays one of a set of twins — "the one," she says, "who feels her sister was given everything: talent, beauty, the gift of making people want to do things for her ... Louise, whom I play, feels left out, cheated."

"It's a feeling anyone could identify with at some in their lives. You don't have to be a twin to believe someone else has it all, and there's no use even trying to compete because there's nothing left for you. It can make you bitter and turn you inward. But if you're lucky, you learn to look into yourself to find things you couldn't see before."

"The title," she said, "refers to the Biblical twins, Esau — who was his father's favorite, and Jacob, his mother's."

Bridget, who also stars in several new flicks including "Scandal," says being a Fonda — (her dad is Peter, her aunt is Jane and her granddad was Henry) — doesn't make it more difficult to establish her own reputation as an actor. "But some people set higher expectations than they might for someone else."

A problem?
"Not at all." She laughed. "Reaching high is good exercise."

While NBC's Peacock certainly has a right to spread those tail feathers in pride at having Alan Alda in its nest for the actor's first drama series since "M*A*S*H," the fact is, Alda did not give his old network alma mater, CBS, the bird by electing to go to NBC. The story is that Alda talked with CBS first, but some network nabobs nixed the pitch — which Alda and executive producer Martin Bregman ("Serpico," "Dog Day Afternoon") promptly resubmitted — with success — at NBC.

Linda Gray's having a wonderful time telling the folks at "Dallas" where to get off — and where to come on as well. The star who played Sue Ellen for lo' these many years, has been directing sequences for the series with plans to take the helm more often next year.

Rene Auberjunois, who created the role of the persnickety Clayton "Benson," chatted about his role in "Gore Vidal's Billy the Kid," airing on Turner Network Television May 10. "I play the town drunk who betrays Billy for money," he said. "What is especially interesting about Billy is that he was many things — and, certainly, not all of them good — and the film shows that. But in the end, he became a folk hero. Strange, isn't it?"

...
We're going into rerun time which is increasingly becoming a time of decision for many shows. Several major long-running hits might never have survived their first year if not for reruns.

George Wendt of "Cheers" said: "We were low in the ratings in our first season seven years ago, but began to pick up when we went into reruns. Viewers who'd watched other shows tuned us in and, I guess, liked what they saw and stayed with us..."

William Conrad, star of "Jake & the Fat Man," said much the same thing about his series. "I wasn't sure we'd be back after last season, but when the show went into reruns, it posted some very respectable ratings which CBS saw, and liked enough to put us on again this year. I'm delighted they relocated us to Hawaii which can always be depended on to add ratings points..."

It's also helped to have stories this season that allow Conrad and his costar, Joe Penny (Jake) to give their characters a sharper, more defined sense of who they are.

Many factors, including the nation's drought-stricken areas and some increased excise taxes, contributed to large price increases on consumer goods during the second half of 1988. Tobacco and cigarette prices increased the most over the period, followed by many food products. Increase In U.S. Consumer Product Prices: Cigarettes, tobacco 13.3 percent; fats and oils 12.8; fruits and vegetables 10.6; cereals, bakery products 9.7; dairy products 9.5; footwear 8.4; medical services 6.6; electricity and gas 6.5; public transportation 6.2; used cars 5.9.

Automotive News
by Walter Milani

Warm weather brings with it the urge to get out on the open road. Many people opt to drive to their vacation destinations rather than fly. However, there are certain things to consider before packing up and jumping into the car.

Be sure your car is in tiptop shape before the trip. That means checking the air pressure of your tires. (If you don't know what amount of pressure, check your owner's manual.) Check your spare tire as well. You should also have all the tools on hand necessary for changing a tire.

Be sure the car has been recently tuned up, oil changed, etc. Check all fluid levels as well. All hoses and belts need to be inspected for signs of wear and cracks. To be on the safe side, carry some extra belts and hoses in case you have to change one on the road.

All lights should be in good working order. There's nothing like driving on a dark country road with which you're unfamiliar and being unable to see properly. Brake lights are especially important.

If you know your car needs brake work, don't take any chances. Have it done before you leave on your trip.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by Charles King Cooper

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Things are really heating up at work which leads you close to attaining your goals. Bigwigs are impressed, but avoid showing too much ambition since this can work against you.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Before you do any investing with friends, it's a wise idea to discuss everything in detail first. While you do need to supplement your income, you must do some careful research before making a commitment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your active, intelligent mind is looking for some stimuli, so why not consider travel or further education? These activities could lead you to a most exciting discovery which could change many things in your life.

MOON CHILDREN (June 21 to July 22) The direct route is favored this week in terms of your career. However, in taking that direct route, be sure not to suffer from tunnel vision. You just could miss something important or offend a sensitive friend. A friend embraces a political concern.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Someone whose judgment you consider somewhat faulty will surprise you by giving you some excellent financial advice. You are wise to be cautious, but keep an open mind and listen well.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Your wheels are really turning and you're just bursting with ideas. However, be patient with others who are not as quick as you. They need time to absorb everything, and may find your enthusiasm somewhat abrasive.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) This is a good time for you to indulge your futuristic bent of mind and purchase a new computer or some other electronic device. Since your thinking is so forward-oriented, you will be able to use this purchase to its best advantage.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Your appetite for the good things in life will spur you into a shopping frenzy this week. However, the stars are in your favor and your purchases will be wise and thrifty. Developments at work are enhanced by your zest and creativity.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Even though this will be a week full of distractions for you, you will still manage to express yourself eloquently. Others will listen and heed your good ideas and advice. A short, surprise business or pleasure trip may pop up in the middle of the week. Enjoy this.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) This is a week to kick your heels up and enjoy some free time with your loved one. You've been working much too hard and need a break. You finally get the time to tend to your much-neglected abode.

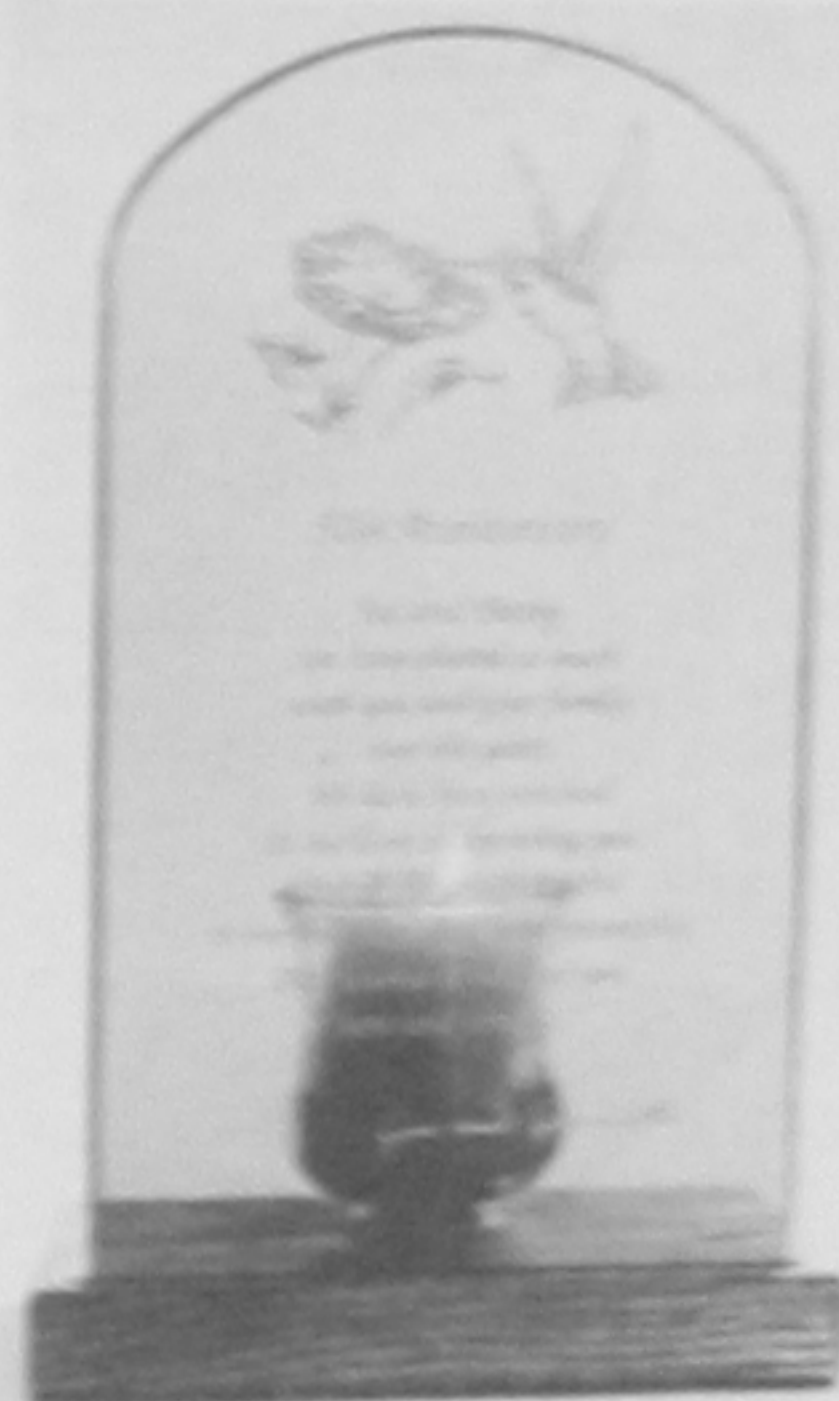

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) This is no time for you to indulge in any gambling activities, or in anything which may prove risky. Trust only sure things this week. If you do, you'll be surprised at how swiftly everything moves along at work.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) By putting collective heads together at work, much can be accomplished. New, exciting ideas can emerge and be implemented. However, toward the middle of the week, the pace may slow down somewhat.

IF YOU WERE BORN THIS WEEK, you have extremely strong abilities in the fields of music and entertainment. Perhaps a career in acting is in your future. Your creative talents also help you tremendously in dealing with other people — especially those folks who tend to be cantankerous and overbearing.

DEAR DIANE

by Diane Van Arsdale

DEAR DIANE:

I have a five-year-old son who doesn't play with his own toys. I have all the toys that a boy would like, but he likes to play with his sisters' dolls, dressing them, etc. All of his trucks and GI Joe dolls are left sitting in his closet. Even when he goes to school, he wants to bring his sisters' dolls instead of his own toys. My husband gets very upset over this, and the other children at school make fun of him. I've tried to encourage him to play with his own toys, but he just doesn't seem to like any of them. Can you help?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED:

Believe it or not, it is just as natural for a little boy to want to play with dolls as it is for a little girl. You have nothing to worry about, and I wouldn't try to force him into playing with his "masculine" toys. This may create a conflict within him, whereas if you just leave him alone for a while, he'll be fine.

I am still amazed by the sexual stereotyping perpetrated by toy companies. Little girls are still encouraged to be housewives and mothers, while little boys are urged to be doctors, lawyers, etc. It appears to me that almost nothing has changed since I was a little girl. Come on, parents, let's allow our children to explore any and all areas. Break down the barriers still being imposed by society. That should apply to your son, as well.

DEAR DIANE:

I recently became a widow. I'm in my mid 70s and have lost contact with most of our friends, or they have passed on. My husband was my whole life, and without him now, I feel lost and lonely. I still drive, but I have a hard time getting around. I don't even have my grandchildren to visit or my own children. They all moved to other states many years ago. So, I'm basically alone. I am so used to having my husband here with me. We were married for 53 years, and after that amount of time, I feel a large part of me has died too. I don't know where to turn now for a little companionship. Would you have any ideas?

LONELY

DEAR LONELY:

I offer my condolences on the loss of your husband, and I know you are having a very hard time as a result. However, there are things you can do to assuage your loneliness. First of all, join a local senior citizen center. They are wonderful, and plan many activities for their members. You will also have the opportunity to make new friends. I also think that getting involved in community organizations and church activities is good, and will help you meet new people.

Building a new life is never easy, no matter how young or old you are. However, you seem willing to make a go of it. I'm sure that in time, you'll be feeling a lot better. Good luck.

DEAR DEX

by Dexter Dyer

DEAR DEX:

My wife and I have been married for seven years now, and when we first met, she was a thin and beautiful woman. She also was very active — on the go all the time. Now, I can't get her to go anywhere, or do anything. She just enjoys sitting at home watching her soaps all day, eating. It almost seems she's eating every time I see her. She has blown up almost four times the size she was when we first met. Granted, I love her for her, but I also enjoyed her beauty. I keep myself in good shape. I work out at the health spa, and have tried a number of times to get her to join me.

I have approached her gently on how I feel about how she looks and that she should get out once in a while. She's very sensitive, so I try to put things gently. It seems she doesn't hear one word I'm saying. I don't really get turned on by her lately. I find myself looking at other women a lot. I would like to remain faithful, but it's getting harder and harder. Any suggestions?

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY:

I think you have to try again, only this time, don't walk on eggshells. Let her know that you've been looking at other women and tell her exactly why. However, do be sure to reassure her of your love. She has to know that you are doing this for the sake of your love for her and your commitment to your marriage. Tell her you will support her in her dieting efforts, and that you will help her out at the spa. Sign her up as a member, and then set up a schedule for you both to go as a team. If she realizes how much this is affecting you and your marriage, I think she'll choose to do something about it.

DEAR DEX:

I'm 17 years old and a senior in high school. I have been dating a girl from school for the past year. I know we're young, but I was hoping that she would consider marriage. My father has his own business, and I have been working there since I was 12. I have a good job and a future there. I try to do all the things I can for her. She loves to shop for clothing, so I always take her shopping and buy her what she wants. I'm prompt when we're going out for the evening. I try to do everything I can for her, but she really doesn't want to talk about us much, usually about shopping or where she would like to go on vacation, or what she sees that she wants. She does however, have plenty to say to her girlfriends, and to other men. She's always flirting with other men, but she's not going out with them, so it doesn't matter. What can I do to get more attention from her, instead of all her attention going to her friends and the other guys at school?

IGNORED

DEAR IGNORED:

I hate to say this, but I think this girl is using you. While it's nice of you to be so generous, I think you should put a lid on your wallet for a while. I think you'll see a different girl if you do that. If she tells you she'll leave you if you don't buy such and such for her, then you know what she's truly all about. While it may hurt, you'll be better off forgetting her and finding someone who loves and appreciates you for you, not for your money. Good luck.

Ultra Modern Car Wash Gets Five Star Rating

By Mary Lou Bercheni

"Five Star Car Wash" located on Second Street in Dillsburg has opened its doors just recently.

A grand opening is planned later this spring.

The family business started when land adjacent to Dillsburg Rent-A-Space became available for sale. Rent-A-Space owners James and Ida Mae Gochenaur purchased the corner property in the spring of 1988. With the help of sons David and Dwight, the self-service car wash is now a reality.

David, owner of Merit Builders in Frederick, Maryland was the general contractor. "The area is growing," said David, "and there is a need for a car wash with the latest technology from the car washing industry."

Dwight owns Mt. Holly Auto Center in Mt. Holly, Pa. which includes a five bay car wash exactly like the new one in Dillsburg. Dwight brings first hand knowledge of the business operation to Five Star Car Wash.

The self-serve car wash includes computerized countdown timers and 7 in-bay service selections.

Timers register the amount of time purchased (starting at 4 minutes for $1.25). An audible signal is given when one minute remains, allowing the customer the option of buying additional time for one quarter, if deposited before the timer stops.

The in-bay services include a low pressure presoak, tire and engine cleaners, high pressure soap and rinse, bubble brush plus a hot wax rinse.

Besides vacuum islands, air pump, mat hangers, vending machines, and bill changer, each bay features warm water washes, and a heated floor system. This system prevents water from freezing on bay concrete during winter months washings.

James, a retired Greyhound line driver, is the Daily Operations Manager.

Ida Mae is in charge of paperwork and public relations.

Five Star has the power to superclean your vehicle, but the customer must still provide the labor.

TASK FORCE SENDS OUT SURVEY

The Northern Community Task Force is a group of concerned citizens from the Northern York area whose goals have been to address the needs of our community. We sponsored the after-prom party for the Northern High School for the second year, have made parenting videos and literature available through the public library, and participated in the grant application process for the student assistance program for our school district. Throughout the past three years we have, in conjunction with the school district and New Hope Ministries, explored the means to bring much needed mental health counseling and drug and alcohol counseling services to our area.

Last March we asked the York County Commissioners for assistance. In response, the York Human Services Department expressed its willingness to help us. In southern York County, an area with similar needs, the Southern York County Human Services Coalition undertook a survey of its population to show service providers what need they had. The effort has been rewarded with improved services. We were encouraged to make a similar effort. Irene Paul of the Red Land Community Action Program has been working with us because the entire northern tier of York County has unmet needs and a growing population.

In mid-May, our survey will be ready for distribution. Look for yours in the mail.

NHS Track Teams Stop Trinity

by John Middlekauff

Monday evening (5/8), under the lights of Polar Bear Stadium, Northern High School capped off a very successful home season in both boys and girls track.

For the Lady Polar Bears, this contest with Trinity boiled down to "one for all the marbles". By posting a solid 83-58 victory over the Lady Shamrocks, Northern Girl's track team sewed up the Mid-Penn Division III Track Championship for 1989.

grand-slam homerun to nail the lid on Northern's coffin. A four run second inning for Camp Hill didn't help matters.

On Monday (5/8), the Bears managed a little revenge, as they scored seven runs in the second inning to bounce Boiling Springs 9-4. Leading the way for Northern were the Merovich brothers. Second sacker George continued showing his power, as he homered in the first and tripled in the second driving in a total of five runs in this game. Brother Dylan, a fourth inning replacement in center field, went two for two to aid the Northern cause. Left-hander Scott Aeppli went the distance for the Polar Bear win.

At the start of this season, Northern coaches felt that while the girl's squad would not have the depth they had enjoyed in the past, still this squad was strong enough to contend for the title. Contend no more, the title is theirs! The Lady Bears successfully defended their Division III ranking-number one!

One other note must be made about the Northern Girls Track program. With still one meet left on the schedule (At Mechanicsburg-5/10), the girls have now piled up an impressive record that shows them sustaining only three losses in nine years—that is incredible.

The one noticable aspect of the Lady Bears success, is their balance. While the names may change from year to year, still the overall team balance seems to be the key for their success. Leading the way for the Northern girls, has to be Michelle Mayhew. Against Trinity, Michelle won the 400 meter and 800 meter runs. She also anchored the very successful 3200 meter and 1600 meter relays.

Television celebrities Phil Donahue, Morton Downey, Jr. and Gerald Rivera as well as Newspaper Editor Geneva Overholser, Columnist Liz Smith and Television Critic Tom Shales hold a lively debate about the changing standards in journalism on THE OTHER SIDE OF THE NEWS: ENTERTAINMENT NEWS OR ENTERTAINMENT? airing Friday, May 19 at 9 p.m. on WITF-TV33.

"A Walk in the Woods," an AMERICAN PLAYHOUSE production re-creating the real-life disarmament negotiations between a Soviet and an American diplomat, will air on Sunday, May 14 at 3 p.m.

According to the playwright, the drama is "loosely connected" to an actual 1982 incident in Geneva. Two disarmament negotiators, Paul H. Nitze of the United States and Yuli Kvitsinsky of the Soviet Union, took a "walk in the woods" in an attempt to reach an agreement.

ADVENTURE's "In Search of the Real Crocodile Dundee," featuring photographer Koran Evans' encounters with bushwhackers and crocodile hunters living in the wild Australian outback, will air on Monday, May 15 at 8 p.m.

Is Crocodile Dundee a real man, a Hollywood myth, or an Australian folk legend? Last year, Kos Evans, a young English photographer found herself in Australia's vast Northern territory. Her assignment: to discover what, if anything, lay behind the legend of Michael J. Dundee, the title character in the popular movie "Crocodile Dundee" and Australia's latest folk hero. ADVENTURE documents her search for the man behind the legend.

"Big Time," a drama about the lifestyles and social values of today's "yuppie generation," premieres on AMERICAN PLAYHOUSE on Wednesday, May 17 at 9 p.m.

The program, filmed entirely in Boston, focuses on the fast-paced, unfilled lives of three professionals.

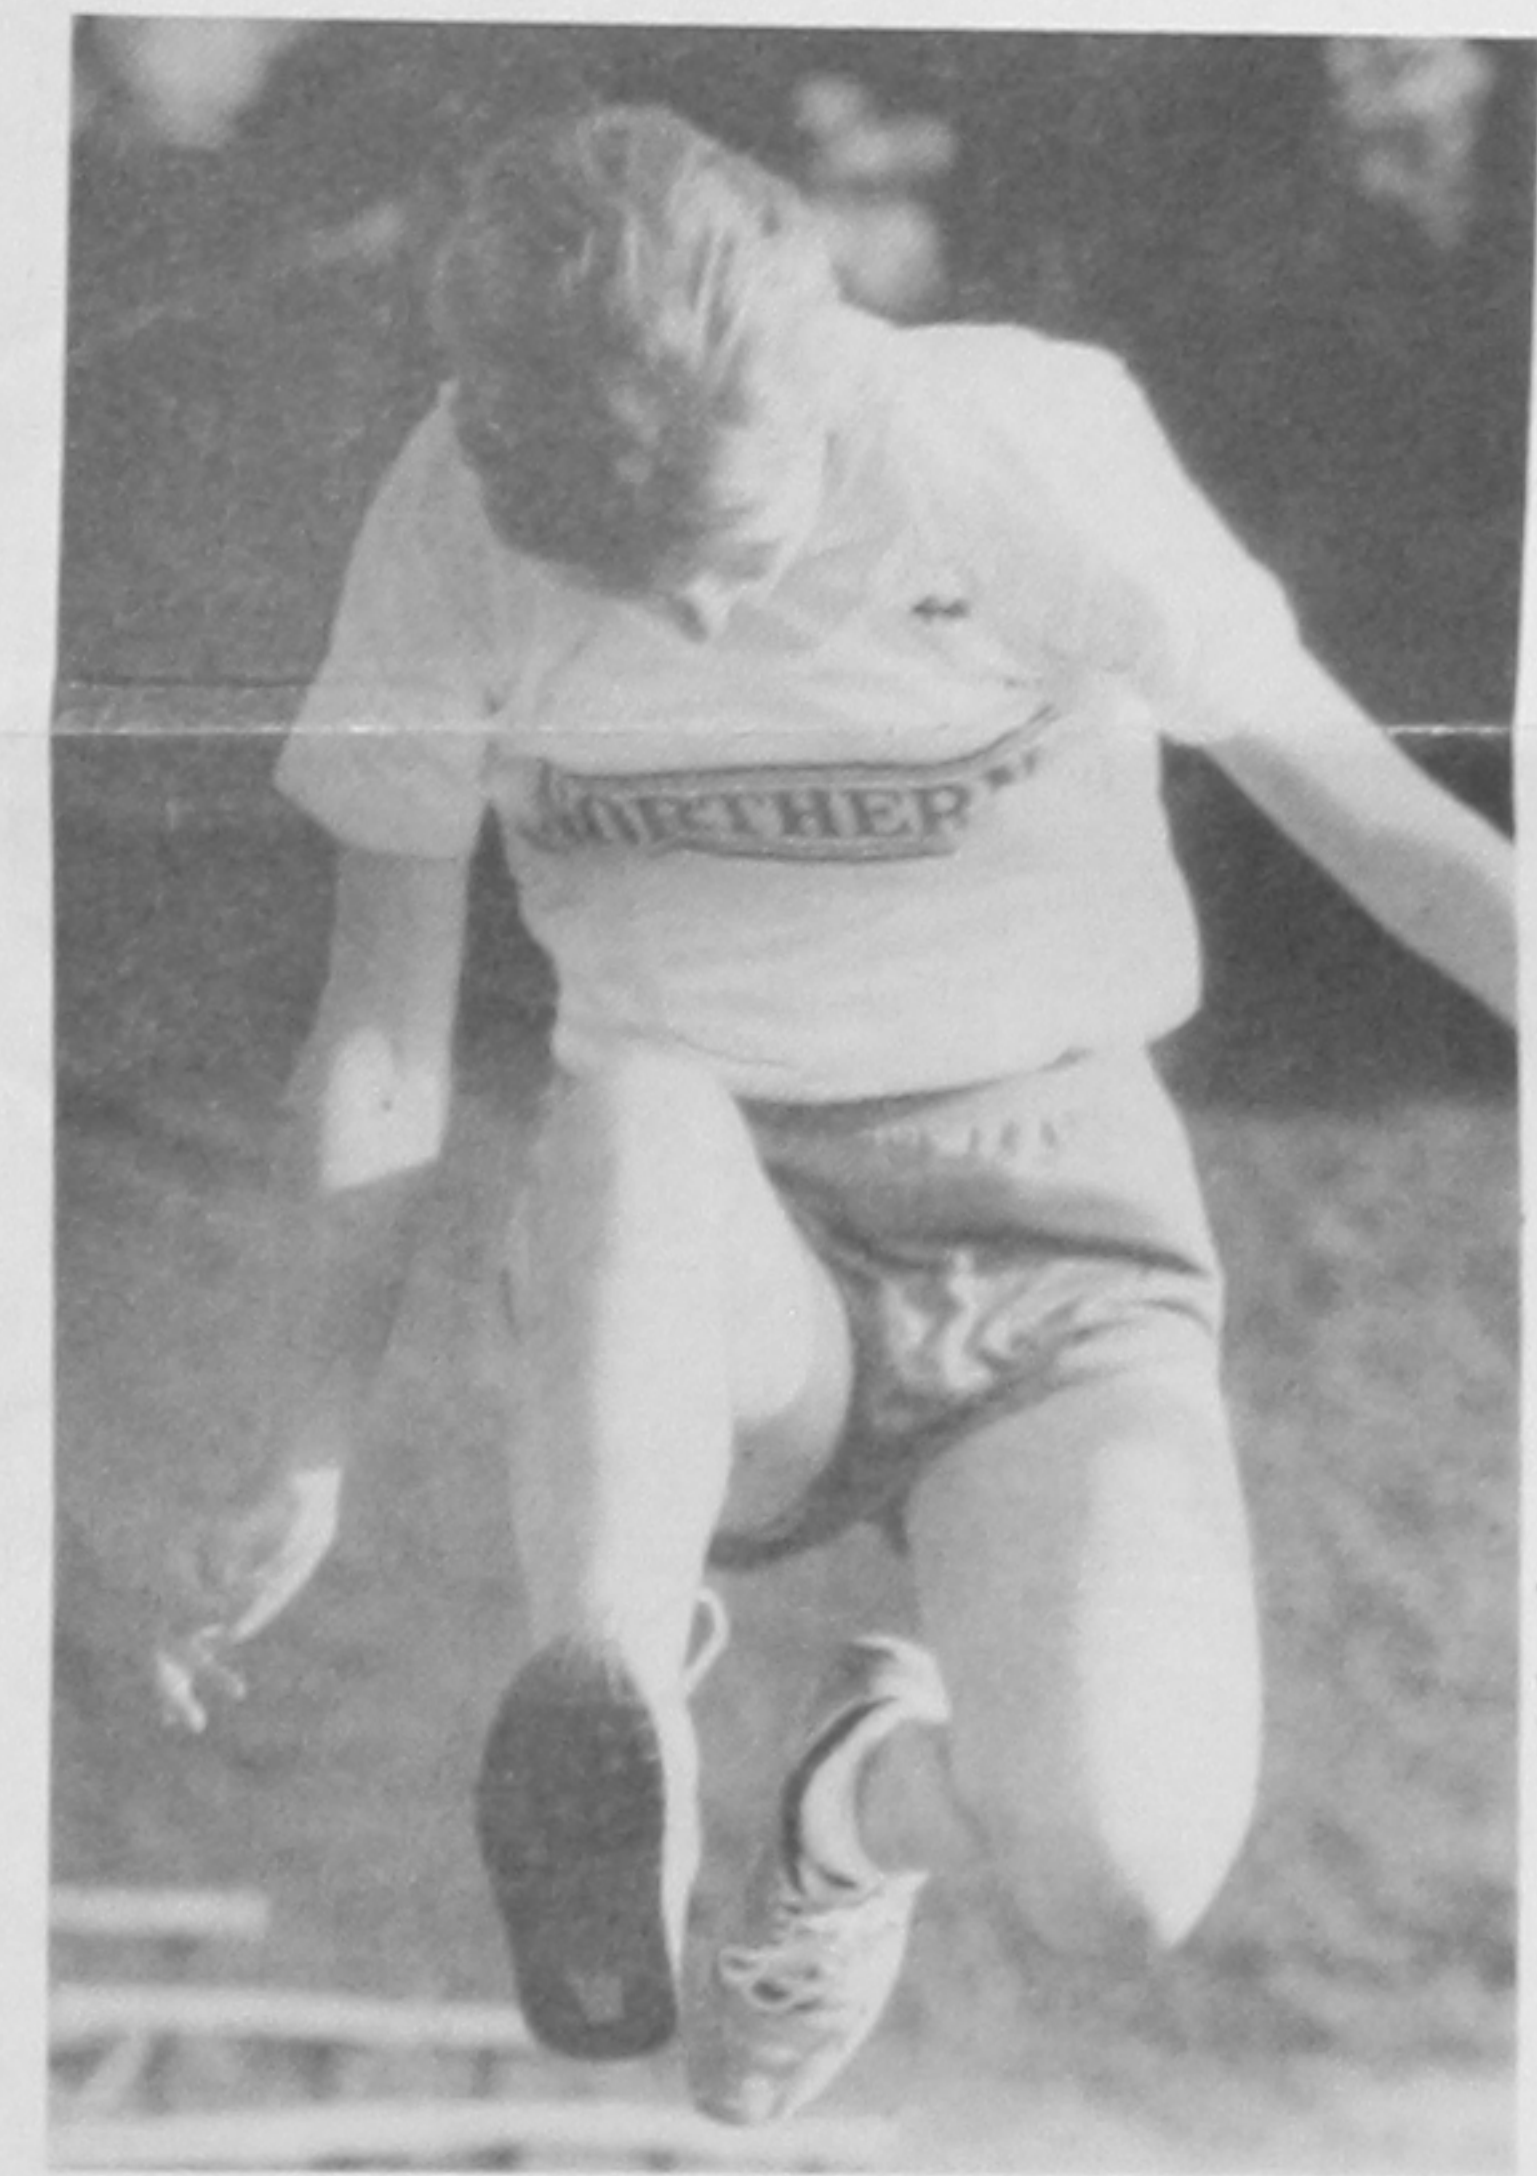

NHS Track Defeats East Pennsboro

by Amanda Rhone

The warm and sunny day of April 27 brought a victory over East Pennsboro for the girls track team. The score was Northern 104 East Penn 37. Outstanding members of the day included Julie Stoner, Patrice Hicks and Nancy Jacoby, each placed first in every event they participated in.

The Boys team was not as successful. The final score was Northern 66, East Penn 84. The field events were well represented with first places by David Gruber (2), Nik Psolka (2) and Jim Miller (1). In the track events the 3200 relay team won with a time of 8:40.7. Dan Maus, Chad Bowser and Matt Lerew, members of the relay team, had individual successes as well.

NHS Track Against Trinity

If "Double M" isn't one of the finest athletes Northern has ever had, then I don't know what an athlete is! Since track is a team sport, it would be very unfair to Michelle or the girls to infer this was a one girl squad-it certainly was not. Northern also has Nancy, Amy, Becky, Autumn, Jennifer and Kay just to name some of the other principals. Nancy Jacoby has been just awesome! Against Trinity she set a stadium record by winning the 100 meter dash in 12.6 seconds. Nancy also won the 200, placed second in the 400, and anchored the winning 400 meter relay. Amy and Becky, the Minnich twins, do just about everything but sell programs. Both are

NHS Track Teams Beat Big Springs

by Amanda Rhone

At the track meet against Big Springs on May 2nd, Northern fared very well. The final score was Girls Northern 85 Big Springs 56; Boys Northern 88 Big Spring 62. Amy Minnich, a junior, ran in four events, three of which were relays. Amy received first place in the 400 M relay, 1600 M relay, 3200 M relay, and 300 M hurdles. Michelle Mayhew, who competed in the 400 M dash, 800 M run, 1600 M relay, and 3200 M relay, received first place in each of her events. The Boys team had a strong meet with Matt Lerew winning first place in the 1600 M run, 3200 M run, 3200 M relay, and 300 M hurdles. Nick Psolka competed in both the track and field events. Nick received first in the 400 M relay and 1600 M relay, second in the 200 M dash, and third in the long jump.

members of the winning 3200 and 1600 meter relay teams. Amy won the 300 meter hurdles and ran in the 400 meter relay. Becky, beside the relay teams, placed second in the javelin and second in the 800 meter run. Autumn McFate was a double winner in two field events, as she won both the shot and the discus. Jenny Maclay held off the opposition to win the 100 meter hurdles. Kay Kula won the high jump competition, and placed second in the 200 meter dash, third in the 100 meter and ran the third leg of the 400 meter relay. Congratulations to the entire girls track squad and go for the gold in the conference and state meets.

For the Northern Boys, it was a little closer but they were able to hold off Trinity 85-65. Only the loss to East Pennsboro kept the Polars Bears from sweeping both titles in Division III. Still, it was a very successful season and one to look back at with a great deal of pride. With the conference meet coming up, the guys do have a chance at a little revenge.

The victory over Trinity also points up the overall balance enjoyed by Northern boys. While not winners in every event, they won their share, but also managed to place and show in a lot of others to garner much needed points. Matt Lerew, once again, led the Northern effort, as he won both the 1600 and 3200 meter runs, took a second in the 300 meter hurdles and anchored the winning 3200 meter relay team. Joining Matt's efforts were Dan Maus, Matt Ayers, and Dave Gruber. Dan won the 400 and 800 and ran the second leg of the 3200 meter relay team. Matt took first place in both the long jump and triple jump. Dave won the javelin, finished second in the shot and discus, and grabbed a third place finish in the pole vault. Our congratulations also to the entire boys track squad for a very successful season.

CARROLL TOWNSHIP RESIDENTS
In the last four years we have seen:

- 1) Our tax rate double
- 2) A complete re-zoning of the township allowing densities which threaten to change the entire complexion of our community from rural to urban.
- 3) Development being approved without provisions being made for the impact on roads, schools, recreation which will result in economic burdens on current residents.
- 4) A lack of foresight, responsiveness and accountability

The list goes on - but the choice is clear
