News from the Dillsburg Lions

This spring has been very busy for the Dillsburg Lions Club. In March, the Lions heard a presentation called "The History of Dillsburg". In April, Representative John Broujos and Representative and Lion Bruce Smith gave a presentation about tax reform.

Monday, April 24, 1989 was the 40th annual "OLD TIMERS" night at the Chalet. This event is sponsored by the 113 members of the Dillsburg Lions Club. Each year since 1949, the Lions have invited those men in our community, who are over 70 years old, to join us for dinner and fellowship. All these men have made a contribution to our community and country, and the Lions recognize and appreciate their efforts. This year there were 66 Old Timers including 15 fellow Lions. Raymond Wagamen at 90 was the oldest man in the group. This annual event gives the men a chance to renew old acquaintances and make new ones.

Each year, the club helps other Lions prepare Beacon Lodge for the summer camping season, but this year they were rained out for the first time in years. Beacon Lodge, a camp for blind people, is operated by the Pennsylvania Lions. The camp has been designed to give blind people easy access to all areas of the camp.

The Lions have several fund raisers each year. The money they raise helps Lions International fund many programs worldwide as well as in our state and nation. Perhaps more importantly, most of the money raised stays here in our own community. Each year the Dillsburg Lions give generous support to many local groups. New Hope Ministries, Northern Band, Dillsburg Library, Scout Troop 38, Youth Baseball, Farmers Fair, and Senior Citizens are just a few of the groups who benefit from Lion fund raisers. When you buy a raffle ticket in the spring or a balloon at Farmers Fair, you can be sure the largest share of your donation will stay here in the community.

The Dillsburg Lions continue to live up to the Lions motto "We Serve" as they have for the last 57 years.

Memorial Day Weekend

Pictured above are local residents dressed in Civil War garb, who, after raising the flag at the Fire Hall, paraded down Baltimore Street through Dillsburg enroute to the Dillsburg Cemetery for Memorial Day services last Sunday.

Below are pictured members of Jack Gaughen Realty (Dillsburg office) who painted the town red, white and blue with over 1,600 lawn flags last week prior to Memorial Day.

The flag idea was the brainstorm of Joanne Witmer, "We just wanted to do something nice for the town," she said. According to Witmer, there was not one complaint. "People were driving to Dillsburg from other towns to see all the flags," she added.

The flags were also distributed in Franklintown.

Dear Editor,

The 119th Convention of the 14th Upper Dist. Sabbath School Association was held at Alpine U. Mo. Church May 21st.

Thirty-four persons were in attendance: 14 from Alpine; 4 from County Assoc.; and 16 people represented part of the district which is made up of 24 churches.

The theme, "Revitalizing the Sunday School," by Rev. Bell was well received and challenging.

However, (as an observer) where was our minister, Sunday school superintendents, and Sunday school teachers from the 18 churches not represented? We cry about drugs, low moral values, crime, etc. As much is said about the young people being the Church of tomorrow.

Isn't it about time for our church leaders to get involved and make our young people feel wanted today; in order to make a better world tomorrow?

Low Interest Housing Loans

Low-to-moderate income families will have an opportunity to purchase a home as a result of a state program that provides low-interest loans, said Rep. Bruce Smith.

The loans from the Pennsylvania Housing Finance Agency (PHFA) will become available in early June for qualified first-time homebuyers.

Qualified buyers must have an agreement of sale in hand to apply for the mortgage loans on June 6, 7 and 8 at designated lenders.

The interest rate on the loans is nine percent plus one point and $200. They will be awarded on a random basis. Applicants will be given a number when they register and those selected will be asked to complete the loan application.

Smith said that the $50 million made available through the program is financed from the proceeds of bond sales to investors throughout the nation.

Since the maximum cost of homes eligible for purchase through the program varies by county, Smith suggested calling the PHFA hotline at 1-800-822-1174 for additional information.

Area Legislators Honored by Small Business Group

Three area legislators have been recognized for their "outstanding voting record and legislative leadership" by the Commonwealth's largest small-business advocacy group.

State Senator Ralph Hess and State Representative Don Dorr and Bruce Smith received "Guardian of Small Business" awards from the Pennsylvania chapter of the National Federation of Independent Business during a recent award breakfast of small-business leaders from across the state.

"It is important that legislators who have consistently supported small-business issues be recognized for their efforts," said James S. Buente director of governmental relations for NFIB/Pennsylvania.

The Guardian awards were presented to legislators based on their strong voting records on key small-business issues. NFIB/Pennsylvania tracks and records the vote of each lawmaker on key small-business issues. Those legislators who tally a 70% or better voting record are presented the award, according to Buente.

The issues covered in the voting record ranged from the establishment of a small business utility advocate to reform of the Commonwealth's liability laws. The small business utility advocate will, for the first time, provide Pennsylvania small businesses with statewide representation before the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission on proposed utility rate hikes. Utility rates have historically fallen on small businesses in disproportionately high levels.

"The small business advocate is just one example which demonstrates the type of understanding and concern these legislators have of the problems faced by small business," Buente said. "They recognize that small business continues to be the Commonwealth's number one job generator."

Out of the 253 state legislators, 105 received the award during the ceremony.

NFIB/Pennsylvania is the Commonwealth's largest small-business advocate serving more than 20,000 small-business men and women.

Q. I love "Entertainment Tonight," and I especially enjoy the smooth and delightful style of anchor Mary Hart. Could you please give me some background information on this wonderful lady? P.G., Columbus, Ohio

A. Mary was born in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. During her three years as a high school English teacher, Hart pursued what proved to be a quick ascent to the top, first by hosting a series of local television shows, then by serving as host of "PM Magazine" in Los Angeles, and as co-host of NBC's "Regis Philbin Show." Hart's enthusiastic delivery and obvious professionalism didn't escape the attention of Paramount Studios, then ready to launch an innovative daily syndicated show devoted solely to entertainment coverage titled "Entertainment Tonight."

Since then, Hart's credits have included guest hosting "Good Morning America," appearing on "The Dolly Show" and "Circus of the Stars," singing the national anthem at Dodger Stadium and at the Forum in Los Angeles, and performing at major corporate gatherings for such industry leaders as Ford and Oldsmobile. On stage, Hart also has established herself as a headlining singer and dancer through acclaimed engagements in major venues around the country, including the Golden Nugget in Las Vegas and Resorts International in Atlantic City and was awarded Atlantic City's 1989 People's Choice Award for Best Music Act.

Mary has also achieved tremendous success with her "Shape Up With Mary Hart" fitness video from Avon Enterprises. Within the first month of its release, the 45-minute, low-impact aerobic workout, available solely through Avon reps, garnered Hart the International Tape Association's Platinum Video Award for sales in excess of 250,000 units.

In addition, Hart is partner in Custom's Last Stand, a thriving Los Angeles-based company which produces customized video resumes and video press kits for a diverse group of celebrities and businesses (not coincidentally, it was Hart's own video resume which landed her the coveted position of co-host on "Entertainment Tonight" in 1982.)

Personally, Mary wed Beverly Hills businessman Burt Sugarman on April 8, 1989 in Los Angeles, Calif.

Q. I've been a fan of Jeff Conaway since he was on "Taxi." What is he doing now? Lily M., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A. Jeff, who played the hopeful young actor Bobby Wheeler on "Taxi" joined the CBS soap opera, "The Bold and the Beautiful." He plays Mick Savage. According to the producers of the soap, Mick will be involved in a storyline that could lead to a breakup of a marriage. (So, well, what else is new on a soap?)

Q. Please tell me what happened to Jack Lord of "Hawaii-5-0." He was always one of my favorites. Does he plan to do another series? Any information would be appreciated. Mary Gentile, Waterbury, Conn.

A. Jack Lord was born John Joseph Ryan in New York on December 20, 1928. He was a seaman during his teens. Later, he ran an art gallery in Greenwich Village in New York. He started his acting career in theater, made his film debut in 1950. His first TV series was "Stoney Burke." He's also written several TV shows. A few years ago, he was reportedly offered a lot of money to do an occasional guest stint on "Magnum P.I.," but turned it down. He and his wife Marie make their home in Hawaii but often visit New York and California. A fine artist, he's had his works hung in the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Modern Art in New York as well as museums in England and various galleries.

Q. Is it true that Cliff Robertson and Dina Merrill have split? I always thought their marriage was rock solid. C.M., Germantown, Tenn.

A. After 21 years of marriage, the couple have legally split. However, insiders say the two are still friends. The break-up was so amicable that Ms. Merrill did not receive any alimony. However, Dina is not hurting for money since her father was founder of E.F. Hutton.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Take some time out for recreational pursuits. The weekend definitely has romance in the stars, so do spend some time with that special someone. You'll be extremely pleased at how nicely this progresses. Don't let an irritating relative get to you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You'll be off to a few false starts at the beginning of the week, but don't let this throw you. By week's end, you'll be sailing ahead once again on an even keel. Your overall financial picture takes a positive turn this week.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Important romantic decisions are in the stars for you at this time. Those of you who are single may just decide to go ahead and take the plunge. Loved ones are agreeable now. Make time on your social calendar for the elderly members of your family at some point this weekend.

MUTINY AND ROMANCE IN THE SOUTH SEAS, by Sven Wahoos (Salem House: $22.50).

Actor Charles Laughton did a great disservice to Capt. William Bligh in his award-winning portrayal of the 18th century officer in the movie "Mutiny on the Bounty." Laughton indelibly caricatured (as did later imitators) Bligh as a tyrannical commander whose brutish behavior goaded his crew into mutiny after a lengthy journey to Tahiti to gather breadfruit trees for transplant in the West Indies.

In actuality, as Dr. Wahoos, a practicing psychologist and member of the Adventurers' Club of Los Angeles, makes clear, Bligh might be considered a model mariner in an age when 1,000 lashes for an offense was not unknown punishment on British ships. He had served as an able sailing master under Capt. James Cook; he would navigate some 3,600 miles in a small boat after the mutineers cast him adrift, and eventually would become governor of New South Wales in Australia.

Unfortunately, Bligh was inconsistent in his treatment of the men under him. Solicitous of their welfare under duress, he became verbally abusive under less trying circumstances. "It was not his physical cruelty but, rather his humiliating tongue — in an era when a man's honor was more important than his life — that contributed heavily to the most famous mutiny of all time."

Even that need never have happened, according to what Mr. Wahoos terms "a companion" to other Bounty texts, if Bligh had not been so insulting to Fletcher Christian, his lieutenant, over some stolen coconuts. The rest is history, and admirably chronicled and detailed in this informative and highly readable volume.

DEAR DIANE

by Diane Van Arsdale

DEAR DIANE:

I have a rather strange problem, and hope you can help. I'm a 30-year-old woman, and have been married five times already. My former husbands were all decent men; I just realized that I wasn't ready for a lifetime commitment with them. Now, at age 30, divorced for two years from my last husband, I have recently met a guy whom I know is the one I've been searching for all this time. I am also willing to finally compromise, and make this marriage last. The only problem is most of my friends know of my previous marriages and that could ruin everything for me. I told my fiancé that I have been married twice, but I don't want him to know of the other three. I feel so strongly about this man. I'm willing to do whatever it takes to keep him. I couldn't tell him of the other marriages, as it was hard enough for him to accept the two I told him about. I know it must sound to you as if I have a lot of problems, and a lot of growing to do, but the point is I have. I have finally found the one I need, and I must find a way to keep this happiness I've searched for all my life.

DESPERATE

It is possible that with a lot of soul-searching and honest self-confrontation, you've finally resolved your problems regarding commitment and marriage. However, that usually doesn't happen without some professional help. I suggest you see someone, just to be sure all your problems have finally been worked out before you try marriage again.

As for not telling your fiancé about the other marriages, I'm afraid you have no choice. All your marriages have to be listed when you apply for your license, as I'm sure you must know by now. Not listing them is considered perjury, and the marriage is technically illegal as it is based on fraud. If your fiancé loves you, he's going to have to accept that the past is the past. Good luck.

DEAR DIANE

I share an apartment with a girlfriend of mine from school. Everything was going along okay until about six months ago. She's constantly bringing men home, and usually someone different. These men are coming in and out of here like we have revolving doors. I'm concerned because she doesn't know them at all, and with all the crazy nuts running around today, who knows what could happen? I'm afraid that one morning I'll wake up and find her dead, or as far as that goes, it might be me, too. I've spoken to her about it, and explained why I feel this way. She just gets very defensive about it. I need a roommate and cannot afford to live alone. Any suggestions on how we could solve this problem?

AFRAID

DEAR AFRAID:

There are people who are addicted to sex, just as others are addicted to drugs or alcohol. These people need the same type of treatment as any addict, and there are places to contact. DEAR DEX

by Dexter Dyer

DEAR DEX:

I'm a 17-year-old male, and live in a very small town, way out in the country. Most people would say we live in the sticks. Anyway, there are very few people here to do things with and not many places to go. My cousins live nearby on their farm, so I've always hung around my cousin, who is now a beautiful 16-year-old girl. Awhile ago, we started caring about each other more than just cousins or friends. We secretly started dating and now our parents found out. They grounded us both and forbid us to see one another. They think we're sick, so they've told us, that cousins just don't go out together. She is my fourth cousin removed, so I don't see what the problem is. I like her a lot and she feels the same way about me. We've thought about leaving home, and finding an apartment of our own. We both have saved enough money to get us started and keep us going until we find work. We would like to be able to stay at home until we finish school, but if we do that, we will not be able to see one another. Are we really sick? Or are they just not with the times? Any advice would be greatly appreciated.

UPSET

DEAR UPSET

Your blood relationship is pretty distant, being fourth cousins. If you were first cousins, I could see your parents' objections. Check with your county government and find out if there are any laws against fourth cousins dating! Then present that information to your parents. This should put their minds at ease. If that doesn't work, talk to your school guidance counselor and see if you can arrange a joint meeting with all the parties involved present so that you can work this out. Good luck.

Lady Bears Grab Fifth Place at States

by John Middlekauff

Four very determined young ladies from Northern High School managed to endure the pressure of the State track and field championships to win fifth place in the 3200 meter relay for Class AAA girls. The quartet of Becky Minnich, Nancy Jacoby, Amy Minnich, and Michelle Mayhew ran a combined time of 9:31.3 to garner their bronze medals.

Considering all that these young ladies had to go through, makes winning the medals-a very large accomplishment indeed!

The State championships are a two day event structured to find out just who should be the top track and field people in Pennsylvania for 1989. Beginning on Friday, there are the preliminaries. In several events both the prelims and finals were held on Friday. It was in the preliminaries that Northern's Autumn McFate was unable to advance to the finals and bowed out in the discus. For the girls in the 3200 and 1600 meter relays, they had to run against some pretty tough competition in order to reach the finals. There were fourteen schools who qualified for the prelims on Friday in the 3200 meter relay, and thirteen in the 1600 meter relay. The fact that the Polar Bear relay team made it to the finals in both was a huge personal victory. The same story held true for Michelle in the 400 meter dash. Twenty-one girls qualified to reach states. Eight made it to the finals, Michelle was one of them.

Destiny, it has been said, is a very difficult horse to rope. Sometimes you succeed, sometimes you don't. Winning a medal at states may have been beyond the girls wildest imagination but they are competitors in the best definition of the word, and they wanted a little more-it was not to happen. After the big lift placing fifth in the 3200 meter relay, destiny slipped away from the Lady Bears.

It started eluding Northern in the finals of the 400 meter dash. Starting in the outside lane, Michelle got off to what appeared

Northern Baseball Season Ends

by John Middlekauff

The 1989 Baseball season in Mid-Penn Division III, which began with such high hopes, ended dismally for the Northern High Polar Bears. Playing back-to-back ballgames last Wednesday (5/24) and Thursday (5/25), the Polar Bears managed to drop both games.

On Wednesday, Northern made the trip to Boiling Springs to take on the Bubblers, a team that the Bears had handled twice before. In a contest of missed opportunities, Northern saw a 2-0 lead go down the tubes as Boiling Springs scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth to pull out a 3-2 decision. The Bears managed seven hits in this contest, but could not put anything together to produce more runs. Left-fielder Bryan Hertweck was the only Polar Bears to collect more than one hit, as he went two for four in a to be a decent start, but unfortunately that was all there was to be. Unable to find the spark or her patient kick, Michelle finished in eighth place. Then there was the finals of the 1600 meter relay. The girls seemed to be "pumped", and for sure the Northern fans that were there were "pumped" for them. Nancy Jacoby led off for the Lady Bears, and raced out to give the lead to Becky Minnich. Becky ran a solid leg and handed off to her sister Amy. Here disaster struck, and destiny flew away. In taking the baton from her sister, Amy was bumped by a runner who did not stay in her own lane after handing off, causing Amy to drop the baton. When she finally picked up the baton and ran her leg, she gave the baton to Michelle who simply could not catch up to the other runners, giving Northern an eighth place finish. No excuses-the girls wouldn't stand for one. But to say that the girls were crushed would be an understatement.

Years ago the Dean of American sportswriters, Grantland Rice, wrote the immortal words, "It isn't whether you win or lose-but how you play the game". For Nancy, Becky, Amy and Michelle oh how they played the game!

losing cause. Andy Ritter started for Northern and was relieved by Jason Linsey who would up getting tagged with the loss.

Thursday's contest found Northern travelling over the mountains to West Perry, and the wheels really came off the wagon in this one. Having battled all year to find a consistent offense, Northern ended the season like it began-no offense. The Bears managed just three base hits off Mustang starter and winner John Smeigh, as West Perry defeated Northern 8-0. Singles by Josh Linsey in the first, George Merovich in the third, and Brian Flanagan in the fifth, were all the hits Northern could muster.

For Seniors Bryan Hertweck, George Merovich, Andy Ritter, Josh Linsey and Brian Flanagan, along with head coach Wayne Smith, this season must be a bitter pill to swallow. As stated earlier, this was a team that many expected to challenge for a top spot in the standings. The reasons for its failures are probably as varied as the personalities that made up this year's squad. Certainly the miserable weather at the start didn't help to get things off the ground. Several key players just absolutely struggled most of the year, and Northern's pitching didn't develop like it was expected to. For Northern baseball, there are enough key people who will be returning next year, so they and Coach Smith and J.V. Coach Brian Wilson should be able to put a competitive team on the field for 1990.

Outlaws Bring National Flavor to Williams Grove

The World of Outlaws Sprint car racers return to Williams Grove this Friday night, June 2, with time trials scheduled to begin at 7:00.

This week's program will mark the final appearance of the Outlaws in Pennsylvania until late July.

The race for the Outlaw point championship has been close all season with former Williams Grove regulars Bobby Davis and Jac Haudenschild locked in a dogfight with Jeff Swindell of Memphis, TN.

Davis, 26, and also from Memphis, was the 1983 track champion at Williams Grove. He is currently driving a Ford-powered Sprinter owned by Casey Luna of Belen, NM. The chief mechanic is the highly respected Californian Ken Woodruff.

The Luna Ford operation is a classic example of a World of Outlaws team which has scoured the country to join the best driving and mechanical talent available.

Haudenschild's Coors Extra Gold team is similar in that the driver hails from Millersburg, OH, while the crew chief Daryle Saucier is from Memphis, and his assistant Mike Cool hails from Lebanon, PA. The team is owned by the Nott family of Lima, OH.

Swindell, a 10-year WoO veteran at 28, drives the Payless Hardware and Rockery car owned by Californians Ray and Jay Williams. Southern California Kelly Pryor is the mechanic.

While the above three are locked in a tight point race Doug Wolfgang, Sioux Falls, SD, was tied with Haudenschild for most WoO feature wins this season. Both drivers owned four victories prior to last weekend's racing. Wolfgang's car is owned by Texan Danny Peace and wrenched by Gary Turnill of Memphis.

Other travelers such as Tim Green, San Jose, CA; Andy Hillenburg, Broken Arrow, OK; Joe Gaerte, Rochester, IN; Chris McDermott, Houston, TX; and Craig Keel, Weedsport, NY, are also expected to return to Williams Grove this week.

Time trials, heat races and a B-Main will fill the feature field for this week's World of Outlaws feature event. The winner will take home $5000 from a purse in the vicinity of $30,000.

The Limited Sprint cars are scheduled to return to Williams Grove on Friday, June 9, as a companion division for the Sprint Cars. The usual 8:00 starting

Yellow Breeches Creek Study Begins

by Wendy Plowman

The public informational meeting held March 23 at Allenberry marked the beginning of an official Yellow Breeches Creek Study to determine if all or portions of the creek should be designated a Pennsylvania Scenic River and which of the five designations might apply to the waterway - Wild, Scenic, Pastoral, Recreational, or Modified Recreational. The detailed study is expected to take up to two years.

The Scenic River Program, administered by the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources, is designed to raise public attention to the stream's value and recognize it as a special resource. By using the results of the study, which will point out areas of special concern, citizens and municipalities along the stream are encouraged to cooperate in developing management plans aimed at protecting it for the future. The results of the study will be made available to the townships regardless of whether they support the study or not.

After the study is completed, the Scenic River rating becomes official only after the proposal is approved by the Legislature and signed by the governor. If named a Scenic River, the Yellow Breeches Creek will become the 11th Pennsylvania stream so designated, along with Letort Spring Run near Carlisle.

The Yellow Breeches Creek Alliance, a grassroots organization which supports the Scenic River designation, invites the public to a Festival and Picnic to be held at the Lower Allen Township Community Park, Saturday, June 17, 1989 (raindate, Sunday, June 18), from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

There will be fun for everyone with children's games, environmental displays, scientific demonstrations, fly fishing demonstrations, food booths, raffles and prizes.

Sammy Scores $8000 Win

The only two champions the World of Outlaws have ever had duelled for more than half of the 30-lap Copenhagen-Skoal Shootout, and when the smoke cleared Steve Kinser was in the pits with mechanical problems and Sammy Swindell had scored an $8000 victory.

Swindell jumped into the lead at the start and was able to hold off Doug Wolfgang and Kinser for the first 12 laps. Kinser blasted into the lead on the 13th lap but Swindell refused to go away. Kinser developed a mechanical problem on the 17th circuit and coasted to a stop on the backstretch.

Swindell assumed command once again and was never challenged as he roared to his second WoO victory of the season and the sixth of his career at Williams Grove. Swindell was driving Harold Annett's TMC Challenger #1.

Kenny Jacobs in Bob Weikert's Keystone Chevrolet Dealers #29 took the runnerup spot from Doug Wolfgang with a daring inside move entering turn three on the 19th lap, but Wolfgang continued to pressure Jacobs for the spot which he re-claimed on the final lap. Wolfgang in the DP Motorsports 8D earned $5000 for his runnerup effort and Jacobs collected $3500 for third.

Bobby Allen in his own 1A outdueled Dave Blaney in the Chupp 7C for the fourth spot. Allen earned $3000 and Blaney $2500.

Jac Haudenschild ($2000), Cris Eash ($1800), Chuck Reinert ($1700), Mark Kinser ($1600) and Jeff Swindell ($1500) completed the top ten.

Heats were won by Dave Kelly, Bobby Davis, Johnny Herrera and Reinert.

Keith Kauffman won the B-Main. Jacobs set fast time in qualifications with a lap of 18.93.

There were 42 cars in competition. Chuck Reinert in the Sterner Cement/Little Debbie's Cakes #69 turned in the evening's best passing performance moving from the 19th starting position to an eighth place finish.

Allen Nips Wolfgang

Bobby Allen survived a race-long duel with Doug Wolfgang to win the 20-lap World of Outlaws Sprint car feature Thursday night at Williams Grove Speedway.

Sammy Swindell and Steve Kinser followed Allen and Wolfgang across the line as the first four finishers became guaranteed starters in Friday night's 30-lap A-Main.

It was Allen's night from the time he arrived at the speedway. He set fast time in qualifications with a lap of 19.13, then drew a number that called for no inversion in the Fram Dash. Starting on the pole for the dash Allen went on to win the 5-lap affair and the right to start on the pole for the feature.

Wolfgang joined Allen on the front row and led the first lap before Allen took over. Wolfgang was back in front again on the sixth lap, but could not break away from the determined Allen. The two veterans raced side-by-side before Allen took control for the last time with an inside move off turn two on the 19th lap.

Allen, driving his own 1A, earned $3000 for his 34th career victory at Williams Grove. Wolfgang finished a close second in the DP Motorsports 8D.

Sammy Swindell started third and finished third in the TMC #1, but had to hold off the charge of Steve Kinser in Karl Kinser's #11. Kinser had started 12th in the 24-car field.

Jac Haudenschild finished fifth in the Coors Extra Gold #48. Dave Blaney, Cris Eash, Steve Siegel, Bobby Davis and Jeff Swindell completed the top ten.

Heats for the 40 cars in competition were won by Eash, Mark Kinser, Davis and Stevie Smith.

Blaney won the B-Main. Allen's 19.13 clocking in time trials was well off the 1-lap record of 18.50 set by Eash two years ago.

LAW NOTES FROM THE OFFICES OF BRATIC & PORTKO

Final Receipt of Workmen's Compensation - What Is It?

On many occasions we have been consulted by individuals who were injured while at work. After the injury, their employer's workmen's compensation carrier paid their medical bills and, in addition, paid to the employee a percentage of their wages for the period of time that they were off of work because of the injury.

At the time that the employee was released by his or her physician to return to work, but not released from the doctor's care, the workmen's compensation carrier and/or the employer requested the employee to sign a document entitled "FINAL RECEIPT OF COMPENSATION." The small print following this caption reads "as Evidence of Termination of Employer's Liability to Pay Compensation Under Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Act." This document means just what it says. It is a receipt, signed by the employee, saying that he has received his last payment for workmen's compensation, and further, that he is releasing his employer (and thereby his employer's workmen's compensation carrier) from any liability to pay compensation after he returns to work.

In all fairness, this document also reads

"HOWEVER, this final receipt may be set aside and claim reopened upon proof that your disability has recurred. ..."

We have highlighted the crucial word and that is "proof."

Once this Final Receipt of Compensation is signed by the employee, providing "proof" sufficient to meet the demands of the workmen's compensation carrier is very difficult and requires much time, effort as well as extra physician involvement. In most instances, while you are busy providing proof to the carrier, your bills remain unpaid and you receive no compensation benefits for lost wages. This creates an extreme hardship on the individual.
